Southpaw Says That Bonesetter Reese Has Successfully Fixed His Shoulder.

PROBABLY WILL IMPROVE WITH NEXT YEAR'S WORK

National League Race May Not Be Decided Until Last Day. Base Ball Gossip.

BY J. ED GRILLO. It will be very gratifying to the many admirers of Pitcher Harry Harper to learn that the reports that he may never be able to play ball again are

In order to get a correct line on just what Harper's condition is a wire was sent to his home at Hackensack, N. J. westerday, requesting him to make known what Bonesetter Reese found was the trouble with his arm and if he had done anything to mend the in Jured member. The following telegram was received from Harper this morning:

J. Ed Grillo: Replaced loose leader in shoulder will be O. K. after rest. ______ HARRY HARPER.

It seems that Reese located the trou-ble with Harper's arm and replaced the leader into its proper place. Harper, who usually pitches several games around his home town, will not use his arm at all this fall, and will rest until the training period rolls around next spring. hext spring.

Harper ought to be a much better pitcher next year than he was this, for the reason that the year's experience will prove of great help to him.

The western clubs of the National League play their final games in the east today. Chicago will finish up at Brooklyn and St. Louis will play its final game at New York.

The Giants added their twenty-second consecutive victory yesterday, and tomorrow the crucial test for the pennant begins. The Phillies go to Brooklyn for three games, and the Braves play four with the Giants, a doubleheader being carded for tomorrow. The Giants go over to Brooklyn to wind up the season with a four-game series, while the Braves will play a similar number of games at Philadelphia, and the season will be over. With the Dodgers up against the delphia, and the season will be over.

With the Dodgers up against the strong New York team, there is a good chance for the Phillies to cop the bacon, if they can beat the Braves. It is, however, likely that the question as to which one of the three present contenders in the National League will oppose the Red Sox in the world series will not be decided until the last day of the season, for the Braves have shown another winning streak of late, having won five straight from the Pittsburgh team.

Despite the fact that William "Kid" Gleason is fifty-five years old, he is still proving himself a most capable coach for the Chicago White Sox, and he will be retained for next season, and probably for as long as he wants the Gleason has proved himself a most valuable man for the White Sox, and it is believed that he will be of much help to Rowland in the next campaign, for Gleason is popular with the players and knows how to handle them.

President Haughton of the Braves and President Ebbets of the Dodgers may find themselves in a position where they will have to hand back a lot of money to the public, because both have placed the world series tickets on sale, and, of course, one or the other is going to be disappointed.

ANOTHER POST-SEASON SERIES. Trying to Get Giants and White Sox Together.

CHICAGO, September 27 .-- A post-sea son series between the New York Nationals and the Chicago Americans, to take the place or a city chompionship, was discussed today among followers of the game. On account of the uncertainty of the pennant race in both leagues no negotiations for such a contest have been started, but Charles A Comiskey, owner of the local American League team, apparently looked on the League team, apparently looked on the proposed series with some favor.

"I have heard some talk of a series of that kind." said Mr. Comiskey, "but no one has approached me in regard to such games. It would undoubtedly be an interesting series, but there are so many obstacles in the way that I don't see how the two teams could meet. If Brooklyn wins the pennant it would, of course, be out of the question, as I would not invade any part of Greater New York while Mr. Ebbets' team was contending in a world series." Seam was contending in a world series."

BALL GAME ON TODAY.

Teams of Press Club and Board of Trade to Contest.

Teams representing the National Press Club and the Board of Trade this afternoon are ready to test their strength and skill on the diamond at the American League ball park. Mem bers of the National Guard of the District of Columbia, now encamped in Virginia, are to be guests of honor. Families of guardsmen who are without support are to be aided by the funds raised by the game. In addition to the game proper, which promises some "real" playing, the guardsmen are to give a drill. A musical program is to be given by two bands—one from the militia and the other from Fort Myer.

Next Leader of Milwaukee Club May Be Doolan or Lobert.

MILWAUKEE, September 27 .- Al Timme, president of the Milwaukee team of the American Association, announced yesterday that the next manager of the team would be a graduate of the New York National League club. The identity of the player is a secret as Timme refuses to disclose his name. He stated, however that negotiations will be started immediately to land

The man, according to Timme, is a close friend of McGraw, and the New York manager praises the man highly. Timme's friends insist that the next manager will be either Mike Doolan or Hans Lobert.

Although Dumbarton won the team Although Dumbarton won the team championship by defeating the Chevy Chase Club team three weeks ago, and Columbia has second place without a shade of doubt, the battle Saturday will go a long way toward clearing up the doubt regarding the relative merits of the two teams. In three matches Columbia has been unable to put its best men in the field, and lost two matches through this cause. Twice was Connie Doyle out of town, and twice Henry C. Breck was unable to play. In one match, when both Doyle and Breck were not in town, Columbia was beaten by Chevy Chase, and this cost the team a chance at the championship. Dumbarton has always been able to get its best men on the courts.

Ban Johnson Says Opening Will Be Next Saturday a Week.

CHICAGO, September 27 .- The world series will open Saturday, October 7, the series. With the race as uncertain as it is, no final action has been taken yet by the national commission, Mr. Johnson said.

"I am certain that the world series will start on October 7. The contestants might be willing to begin October 6, but I hardly think so. The American League race closes one day earlier than the National's, so I do not think that would be fair to the National League winner, however, so it looks as if the opening game will be played a week from next Saturday.

"Owing to the uncertainty of the race we have been unable to make any arrangements for the series, and don't know whether to start east or the National League the winner will be an eastern team."

Special Dispatch to The Star.
PHILADELPHIA, September 27.— Manager Griffith and his players had a day off yesterday. They might have gone fishing, to the movies or taken a sight-seeing trip around the city. Nothing like that for the Nationals, however: that would be breaking all base ball traditions; instead, they did what base ball managers and players always do on an off day-they went to a ball game. Griffith and his players watched the Phillies pull out a victory in the ninth inning over the Cincinnati Reds. There was not a man on the Cincinnati eam who was a member of it when Griffith handled the Reds a few years

After the game the players expressed themselves as not being surprised that the Phillies are right at Brooklyn's throat in the grapple for the National League pennant if they played the kind of ball that they did yesterday.

The Maryland State College foot ball squad is lacking in backfield material. There are plenty of men to develop s good line, but right now it looks as it here is going to be a scarcity of players to carry the ball. This condition probably will exist for some time at east. Not a single member of the quartet who played behind the line last year is back.

Tol Speer, star halfback of last season's team, has not yet been discharged from Battery A of the Maryland Field Artillery. Speer did the kicking and was the main ground gainer in 1915. Royer, who did a lot of good work last season, is in the District orcanized militia, and Fletcher, former ganized militia, and Fletcher, former Erie High and Dean Academy halfback, who sent word last spring that he was going to enter Maryland State this fall, the other day wrote that he had been in bed since August 21 with blood poisoning, and the doctor had refused to allow him to leave yet. It is not known when Boyer or Speer will get out of the militia, and even when Fletcher does report it is doubtful if he will be able to play much foot ball. No word has yet been receiced as to whether or not Hart and Shank, two other members of last year's eleven will return. hers of last year's eleven will return. Coggins, Derrick, Michael and Smith are being used back of the line, but the State team will need more men than four to play through the schedule which confronts it. Rich has been shifted from left end and is being given a trial at halfback, and Ike MacDonald, former Central High halfback, is also being worked behind the line. Stevens and Knode, neither of whom has ever had the least experience in the back field, are practicing at fullback and quarter-back.

GOLF MATCH SUNDAY

Five Local Pro Players Meet at Bannockburn.

SPENCER HAS GOOD SCORE

Beckett, Spencer and Dave Burgess Will Oppose Jack Burgess and McLeod.

Sunday, for the first time in the history of local competitive golf, all the professionals of the Capital city will get together in an exhibition match over the Bannockburn course, at Cabin John. The match was inspired by the outcome of a similar contest held at the Wash ington Suburban Club, when Fred Mc Leod, paired with Jimmie Spencer, defeated the Burgess brothers by 3-2. This time the men in charge of the event at Bannockburn, wishing to make of 71 over the Columbia course would reveal, and not only has he had three scores within the past month under 74, but he has not been over 76 for many weeks. He is hitting his puts with a good deal more confidence now than was the case a month ago, and this will not hurt his chances in the pro match at Bannockburn, where the ball must be struck with firmness in order that it may hold the line, as the greens are rougher than those at Columbia.

Dave Burgess always plays his home course well, getting around consistently Columbia.

Dave Burgess always plays his home course well, getting around consistently near thirty-eight, and it is probable that thirty-eight will come very near to leading the players in the match.

Becket has been getting around the Washington Golf and Country Club course he has played in the last three weeks and can be counted upon to be up near the hole putting with all his usual accuracy. He is, without a doubt, one of the most consistent putters in this vicinity, and seldom does he play a round of golf without getting at least one thirty-footer and is deadly on the ten-footers.

Jack Burgess, when he has time to play, gets around the long and difficult Chevy Chase course in seventy-six or better, and is putting as well as ever. The match at Bannockburn should be very interesting, if only as a means of comparing the players, although the course, in the shape it is at present hardly offers a fair means of judging.
